

Cooking evening

Welcome to a deliciously inspirational culinary evening!

SINCE TIME IMMEMORIAL, the Sami have prepared food using that which the mountains, lakes, rivers and forests had to offer. When the farming pioneers arrived, their crops and domesticated animals were included in what the region offered. Over the centuries, the best of both kitchens has resulted in this region's traditional fare.

FOOD SHOULD QUITE naturally be an experience for every sense. Our subarctic wilderness provides a rich abundance of wonderful raw produce, something we really appreciate and wish to offer you as our guest.

We get together for an afternoon in Andrummet to become better acquainted with traditional Norrland cuisine. You are guided by an expert cook in learning new ways to prepare our local produce and together prepare portions of the meal to be served later in the evening.

The complete menu consists of a three-course gourmet dinner composed of the best from our pristine forests, lakes and rivers.

Your fresh knowledge of food and drink from this afternoon and evening is something we hope will also inspire you in your everyday culinary adventures.
